Sir,

I have the honor to state that the holding of a weekly market on Friday in the village of Hadadi in the Davanagere Taluk had been sanctioned in Government Proceedings No. 8824/R.1320 dated 28th November 1894 but the same was not brought into force on account of the prevalence there of epidemic diseases such as plague and cholera. The village, besides being a Union and the residence of several well-to-do merchants, has an additional importance arising from the fact that it is situated on the high road leading from Chennagiri to Davanagere on which there is a tolerably good amount of traffic .

The places around Hadadi where weekly markets are now held are Davanagere and Lokikere in the Davanagere Taluk and Kathlagere in the Chennagiri Taluk, which are at a distance of 8, 5 and 6 miles respectively from this village. The market at Lokikere being an insignificant one cannot benefit this village. Though the Santes of Davanagere and Kathlagere are conducted on a large scale, they cannot be resorted to by the inhabitants of this village the former being at some distance and the latter being situated on the other side of the Sulekere and Syagale Hallas which are practically unfordable during the rainy season. Hence it is very essential to have a sante in this important village and it is believed that this
